Students attend Southern for a lot of different reasons: to get an education, to pass the time, to gain status, to raise hell, to join a frat, to settle down, to learn something, to prove a point, to get a degree, to play football, to grow up, to get away from home, to get married, to follow in big brother's footsteps, to be with their friends the list is endless.

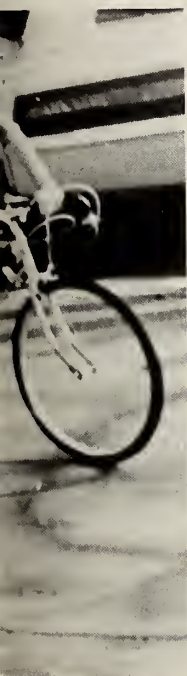

No matter the reason one attends Southern, the time he spends here is filled with experiences. New experiences that before long become a somewhat daily routine, changed slightly every quarter—New faces, new places, interactions, constant changes.

Besides the changes from the students point of view every quarter, other changes are very evident here at Southern. On campus there seems to be constant construction and new programs to open the doors for better education. Now if only a few minds would open, Southern would become an even better university.

The number 13 by some is considered unlucky. Those of us who have taken this road can vouch that it takes you where you want to go.

In the next section of this book turn slowly and watch for your friends, familiar places, and a few thoughts of the year at U. S. M.

ON READING TO A CLASS

Before
I opened my mouth
I noticed them sitting there as orderly as frozen fish in a package.

Slowly water began to fill the room though I did not notice it till it reached my ears

and then I heard the sounds of fish in an aquarium and I know that though I had tried to drown them with my words that they had only opened up like gills for them and let me in.

Together we swam around the room like thirty tails whacking words till the bell rang, puncturing
a hole in the door

where we all leaked out

They went to another class
I suppose and I home

where Queen Elizabeth my cat met me
and licked my fins till they were hands again.

The contentious war is over, the heroes return,
Except the ones we tearfully learn
Are missing in action or shrouded in death;
All alike we recall with bated breath.

The lonely deserter, the banished objector
Remain in our minds as painful detectors
Of something not right, of things to oppose,
Of answers to riddles that nobody knows.

it was the best of times,
it was the worst of times.
it was the age of wisdom,
it was the age of foolishness.
it was the epoch of belief,
it was the epoch of incredulity.
it was the season of light,
it was the season of darkness.
it was the spring of hope,
it was the winter of despair.
we had everything before us,
we had nothing before us.
we were all going direct to heaven,
we were all going direct the other way

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities

Destiny is not a matter of chance, it is a matter of choice; it is not a thing to be waited for, it is a thing to be achieved.

William Jennings Bryan

The time is now, Southern, to strive for than greatness which is destined to be yours.

Carolyn Fanning

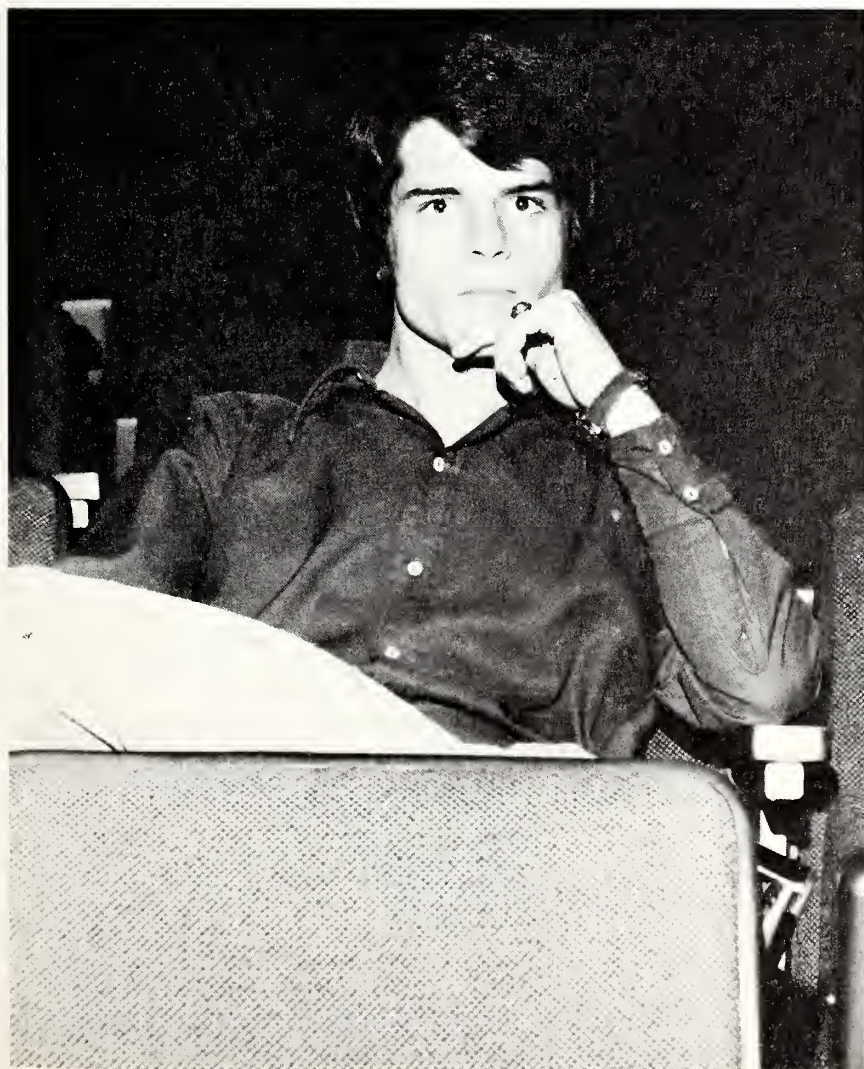

College has been somewhat of a discipline and an adjustment of a completely different life style than most of us were accustomed to before we came here. Now, we the seniors are ready for another change—adjusting to the “real world”—perhaps the greatest change of all. I feel that I have received here at U.S.M. the best possible education, both in and out of the classroom. I've only just begun and U.S.M. has given me a good beginning. Many thanks.

Roberta Little

A great university is one that is a LEARNING institution rather than merely a TEACHING institution. I hope USM reflects being a LEARNING institution.

George E. McGee

Academics are foremost in our university program; however, the "big gold" at this institution is found in everyday meeting, learning, understanding, and loving those countless individual personalities that are USM.

Carroll Freeman

Southern is progressing rapidly in an effort to provide a broad education for its students. However, this progress will only be realized when students and administrators cooperate, and it is realized that human rights and education can progress hand-in-hand.

Vicky Foster

"The direction in which education starts a man will determine his future life."
Plato

At USM we have an excellent start.
Debbie Oliver

Garry Dearman

Karen Michelle Jones

USM has the potential to be one of the leading universities in the South, but it's amazing how slowly the administration is willing to progress.

Robert V. Abbey, Jr.

I get by with a little help from my friends.
Lawrence Keith Dubuissou

Climb far, your goal the sky, your aim the stars.

Paula Bounds

USM provides opportunities whereby you can find God, yourself, and others—thereby making you realize what is of ultimate importance.

Bill Patterson

USM provided me with a fresh series of encounters to push out against, ideas to feel my way through, and obstacles to bump into; thus I was able to define myself.

Susie Paul

Through opportunities available at USM, I have learned the power of the individual. I know now that I am the only limitation on my future achievement.

Steve Stewart

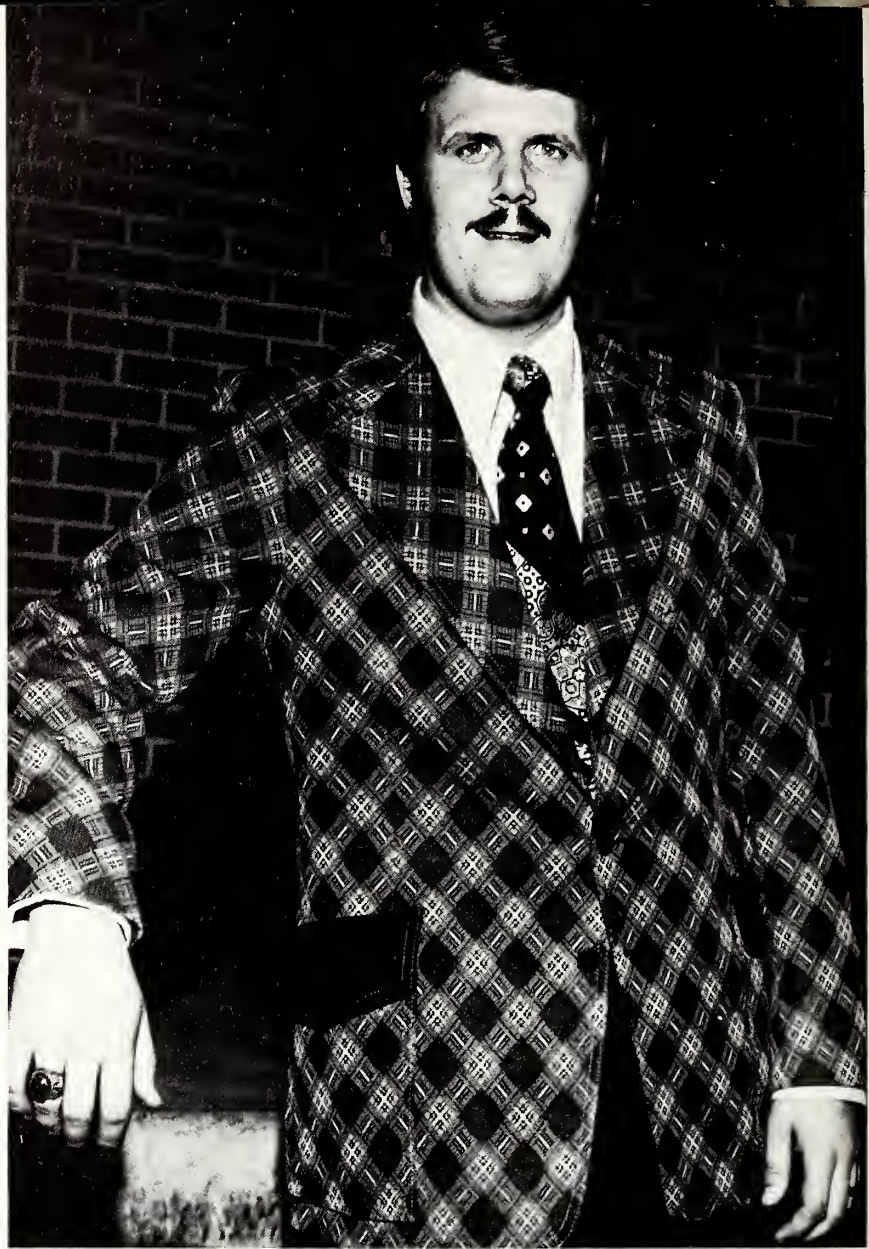

It is an honor to be a graduate of Southern because I feel that it is an institution that has grown with the demands of the students and with the proper support it will continue to expand to meet the vast educational needs.

Cindy Watkins

Benjamin Franklin once wrote, "as we must account for every idle word, so we must for every idle silence." Considering this, more of us at USM need to let everyone know where the best university in this state is. Let's Talk Southern!

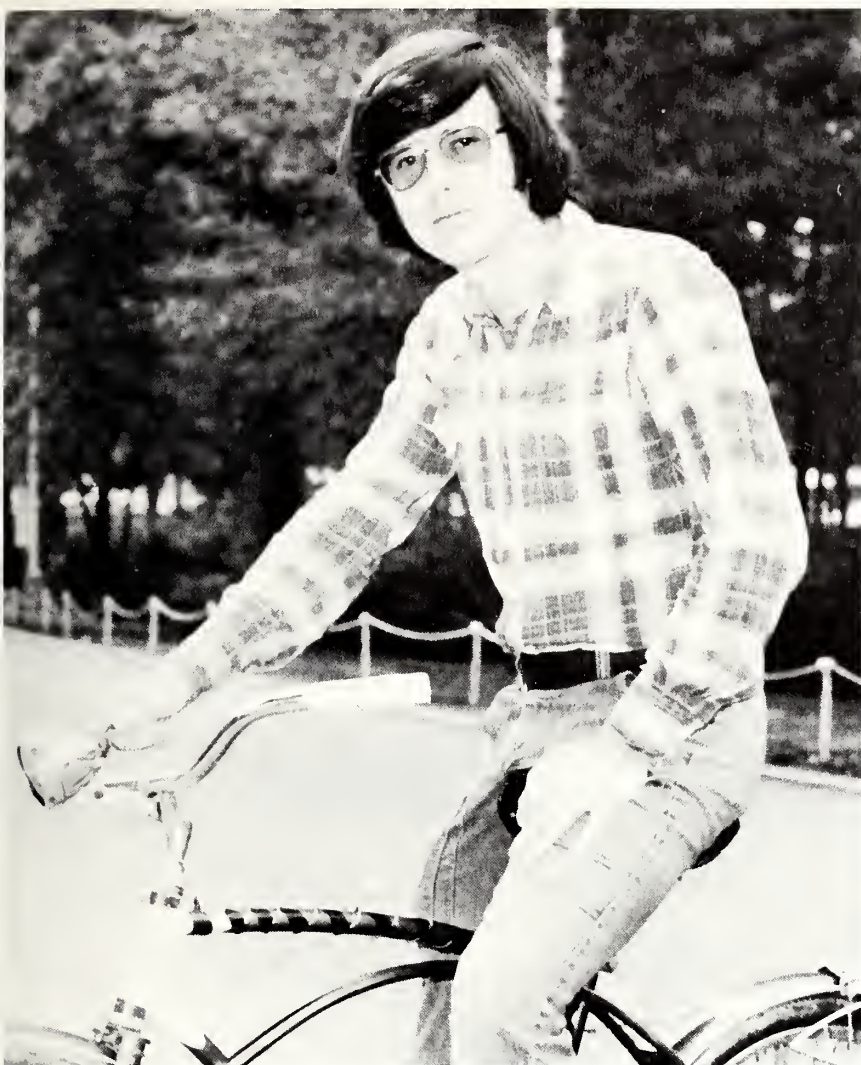

Mark K. Boyles

Progressing in the equal opportunities area, I've seen Southern grow from approximately fifty to five hundred black students. Recognizing the contributions of blacks in all areas, including the teaching profession, Southern could progress even more.

Juanita Lutisha Sims

The world is full of people whose notion of a satisfactory future is, in fact, a return to the idealized past. Robertson Davies
Chip Edwards

A university in our modern society must learn to adjust to the varying trends of the times, and I hope USM will continue its progress in this manner.

Rick Lambert

Nancy Turner Sealle

My thoughts are fond memories; my opinions are high; my ideas center around unity; and my hopes are for continued progress for Southern as a leading University.

Terrie French

To exist and not pursue is to be dead; to exist and pursue is to be alive. It is my hope that this University continues to afford its students that which it has afforded me . . . the chance to exist, the chance to pursue, and the chance to be alive.

John Ellis Price

Dixie Stokes

You have taught me to appreciate things and people that I would never have thought to appreciate.

Kit Prestridge

Southern is a "good" university. Many people have found knowledge here. But we should remember that the greatest enemy of a better university is a good university and strive to make Southern "the best place."

Becky Boisture

FOOTBALL

The '72 football Golden Eagles tied 1 and lost 2, while the Southerners won 3, lost 6 and decided to change their name before coming home. The opposition somehow found their way through the defensive web anchored by Cook, Dennery, Roberts, White, Byrd and Guy to score 231 points in 11 games, while the USM offense generated 182. Consensus All-American Ray Guy boomed out punts at an average of 46.2 yards a try, kicked the longest field goal in collegiate history, stole 9 passes and broke his ankle, all in one season, while Southern's pre-season hopes, expectations, and potential was torn apart by angry Bulldogs, Terry Davis and his wishbone-T, Little Oranges, Tigers, and referees from Atlanta. It was a year of gloom brightened only by an opening victory, two others, and many outstanding individual performances. Buddy Palazzo completed 160 passes that covered over 1800 yards and led to eight touchdowns. He was the team's second leading rusher with 329 yards. Most of his passes sailed into the hands of Doug Parker and Marshall Veal. Parker dazzled the fans and defenders time and again, as he pulled 41 receptions out of some strange place. Wilson Plunkett produced an average of over five yards every time he touched the ball, but he only got to carry it 59 times due to a persistent early season injury. Doyle Orange streaked for 935 hard fought yards and crossed the goal line 9 times, 45% of the total TDs. On defense it was performance understated by statistics by one of the finest linebacking corps in USM history, led by middleman Mike Dennery and balanced by Gantt, Huettel, Cheatum, and Roberts. Big Fred Cook intimidated coaches, quarterbacks, and opposing blockers, game after game. Fred Meyer, Doug White, and Eugene Byrd were outstanding. And then there was Guy. The performer of performers went from arena to arena impressing players, press and personnel people for professional football. He became the first round draft choice of the Oakland Raiders. Playboy's pre-season prediction proved true as Ray Guy became USM's first University division All-American. The players performed well but the team didn't; the dynamically talented Southerner-Eagles won but 3 times in eleven tries, and of course there will always be an eternal asterisk beside the 13-9 score in the minds of the partisans and players of USM football '72: *grand larceny.

General Nat was honorably discharged as USM spirit took to the skyways under the leadership of the Golden Eagles. At Homecoming '72 the General gracefully bowed out, but for the Southern spirit leaders, work began and persisted long before the emotional peak at Homecoming. Led by the untiring efforts and SPIRIT of a modern day Man of LaMancha, USM Spirit Director, Gary Dearman utilized his crew of dauntless crusaders and volunteers to bring that intangible ideal of school spirit closer to home than it has ever been at Southern. Never satisfied with each new ebb and accomplishment the Southern cheerleaders went on and on to lead the students, support the students and promote spirit. Their presence was known in good and in bad with never a head hung in despair of shame but always that anxious smile of optimism. Chosen to lead Spirit, this crew of golden birds rose high, high above their call.

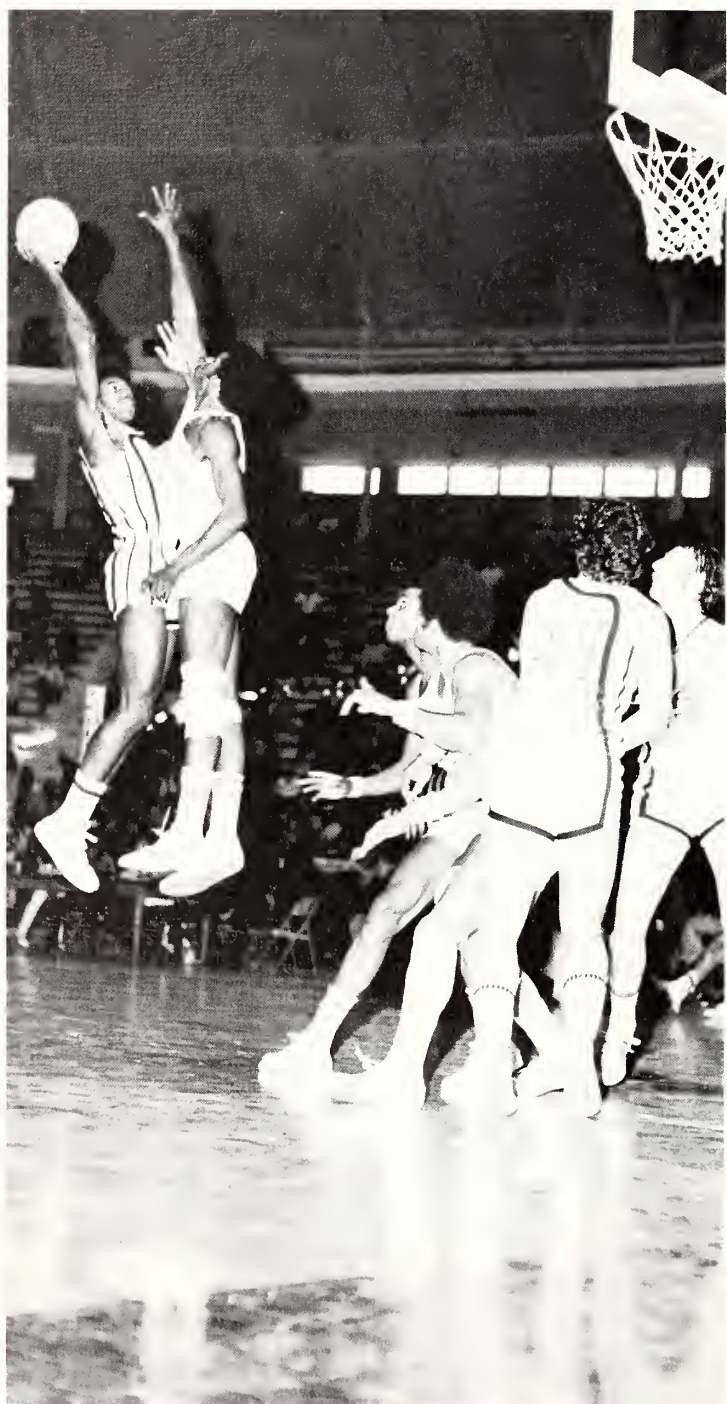

BASKETBALL

With nowhere to go but up, the basketball Golden Eagles won 33% more games than did they in 71-72. The yearlong victory drought came to a halt in the second game of the season when USM whipped Spring Hill, 111-88, before a sparse crowd that would grow in size and enthusiasm as the season wore on. The Eagles of Coach Jeep Clark ended the season with an 8 and 16 record and heads held high with optimism over improvements to come. A dual blessing came to the flock when the dynamic duo of Glenn Masson and Steve Greene migrated into the Coliseum and became USM's number 1 and number 2 scorers respectively. Casey Price led an improved attack on the boards and was backed strongly by newcomers Royce Woolever and James Paimer. Danny Thornsberry delivered beautifully for a second consecutive season.

USM's spiked Golden Eagles flew straight up through the middle of the season with nine straight victories, but then took a late season nose dive to level off for a 12 and 12 season. The stars were many during a year of home wins and road trip disasters. At the top of the list and the statistical totals at the end of the season stood pitcher Buddy Davenport, slugger Wilson Plunkett, scrappy Darryle Lauderdale, and top hitter Tommy Adkins. Davenport took half the USM victories as his own, including 4 during that 9 game sweep. Star footballer Wilson Plunkett wooed the spectators and pro scouts with his .405 average, 3 tape measure roundtrippers, and 20 RBI's. Lauderdale stroked the ball at a .346 clip, and streaked the bases like a roadrunner once aboard. Tommy Adkins led the team's hitters with a .464 average, but batted only 28 times.

Intramural athletics involves more students than any other organized activity on the campus, excluding maybe classes. This year the department was blessed with an untiring Director that developed each sport into a highly professional, coordinated competition. His name is Gary Hannan, and his energy and enthusiasm is known by all who participated in Intramurals. On the competitive side it was a student named Perry Coggins and his corp of super athletes of all sorts, sizes and sports, that dominated the men's scene. They called themselves The Jokers and they are now known as the Overall Intramural Champs for 72-73. Their strongest competition came from Kappa Sigma. The highlight of the season came early when the Black Panthers met the happy-go-lucky Nads for the men's football title. The Nads came away with a victory in that little Super Bowl. They were sparked by a brilliant performance from a southpaw quarterback named Muhs. Women's participation increased this year and with it, so did the competition. In the end it was the group of feminine athletes named The Independents who rose above the rest. Alpha Sigma Alpha and Hillcrest provided staunch competition all the way.

SPIRIT DIRECTOR

Diversification and communication were the keys in student government this year. The SGA expanded its services by creating rental referral, job employment and legal aid agencies. The SGA tutoring service was expanded to employ student workers on federally-subsidized work-study. Panhellenic dormitory has gone on a self-regulated hours basis for junior and senior women who desire the privilege. The SGA initiated "USM Week" to aid the University in recruiting, and will play an active role in freshman orientation.

Human rights became a "priority" on our campus. Communications have been improved on the student level through a more representative executive council, on the community level through numerous joint projects, and on the administration level. A mutual respect between the administration and the SGA was developed—an important communication link which in the past was absent.

USM—it has become a state leader in student politics and state affairs. Most petty internal problems vanished, and the path was clear to deal with the important issues like rights, dorm hours, and human rights.

Add to these projects annual responsibilities of spirit, the Miss Southern Pageant, and Awards Day to name a few.

Last year was a year of accomplishment—accomplishment through diversification and communication in student government. Hopefully, it is only the Beginning!

Student Senate

Meeting every Monday night in the University Commons Banquet Room, the USM Student Senate once again proved to be its usual self—sometimes productive, sometimes not. The year came and went and so did the Presidents of the Senate. How can an organization "efficiently" operate without a competent President?

Appointments for vacated positions and committee positions were made—some to people with no qualifications for the job and others after long drawn out floor debates. Resolutions were made, but most fell into the trap of the Rules Committee such as the condemning of the killings at Southern Louisiana University in Baton Rouge or the lowering of fines for parking tickets to 50 cents. Heavy debate over abolishment of the English Proficiency Test was futile; the English Department decided that the test was still necessary and was to remain unchanged.

While trying to take progressive steps for the University, the Senators found themselves learning a little more about the legislative system—including the parliamentary law according to Robert. At the same time there are always those who make the weekly meeting for their "ego trip."

Through all the litigation, the Senate did contribute to the campus: the establishment of an Emergency Council to "convene and evaluate possible alternatives before an authority is granted armed militia to suppress student protest," the rewriting of the Election Code, and the establishment of a legal aid bureau.

However, to most students the reflection of the Senate was hard to figure out. Get the picture?

Association of Women Students

Changing times brought a change to the traditions of A.W.S. Previously thought of as the "police women", the A.W.S. tried to change its image by revising the women rules to suit the needs of the students (and the administration). Expansion of the self-regulated hours system, attempts to initiate dorm visitation, the elimination of 'probation', and a revision of the judicial system were some of the major points of emphasis.

Investigating problems as obstinate as prostitution in Hattiesburg and as relevant as shortages of grape Kool-Aid, The Student Printz (often known as the twice-weekly travesty), found that freedom of the press is what the local District Attorney says it is.

Despite the mistakes ("a ladies power room has been added . . ."), the editors found themselves implementing many changes other university papers made years ago. Like, why run fraternity and sorority officer pictures when the only person interested in them is the chapter's scrapbook editor? In the changes, new priorities were re-evaluated. Should student government get front page headlines when 300 out of 9,000 students vote in campus elections? Should the UAC get free advertising for every little thing it does?

Some complained that the Printz wasn't providing communication. Others were disgruntled that some of the stories reflected badly upon the University's image (the story of how the UAC had a chance for Bloodrock when Bill Withers cancelled and lost $1500 in the process.... the editorial stating the head football coach's contract shouldn't be renewed).

And it is true the reliability and credibility of some stories and quotes were extremely questionable... and some editorials were so completely off-base they lost "sight" of the issue.

Nonetheless, this year's Printz was markedly different from anything before it. Readers were taken slightly off-course by Chip Millet's "little weirders", but so few understood its messages. Then there was Add One, which had no messages, just things to do (for fun and pleasure throughout the entire day, keep a frog in your underwear), and it asked questions as well (What if a banana raped an ice cube?).

The Printz was regarded as liberal by those who have been around to compare it with past years and as moderate by the great majority who just doesn't care. Most became aware that there might be something worth reading in it when the executive editor got subpoenaed to appear before the county Grand Jury as the Printz carried a story on local prostitution stating that there wasn't much to be had (professionally). Coming to their rescue was University President William D. McCain who defended the Printz's first amendment right to freedom of the press.

Editors felt their publication had a great deal of maturing to do. With intimidation occasionally coming from those in power, much was accomplished: a lot of the trash was cut out despite beliefs by some that the Printz should serve as a public relations tool for the University.

The editor bragged that both television stations in South Mississippi read the paper closely for news leads as well as most newspapers in the area. True, its stories were constantly featured by the local television station and newspaper; the Associated Collegiate Press even saw fit to award the Printz its cherished All-American rating.

But it also wound up in the bottom of bird cages and trash cans just as frequently. So the main thing to be said for the year's volume is that it was in transition...but where it was going still isn't clear.

WMSU

As the song says "It Was A Very Good Year" for student broadcasters at the University. More than 200 students got involved in broadcasting through radio station WMSU. The AM, carrier-current station beams its signal into eight campus dormitories, carrying news and views of the campus and programming contemporary and progressive music to more than 4000 students.

A "new" baby born April 25, 1973, was the campus FM station. WMSU-FM struggled to life after nearly two years of filling out forms for the Federal Communications Commission, telephone calls to New Orleans, memos to University administration, request for broadcast equipment funds, and selection of studio space in Southern Hall.

WMSU-FM is a ten-watt educational station, operating on a frequency of 91.1 megahertz. During the first months of operation, with tower and transmitter on top of the Science Building, the station sent its signal out eight miles, ensuring coverage of the metropolitan Hattiesburg-Petal area. WMSU-AM is operated solely by students. Paid student manager, program director, news director and traffic manager handle the entire operation. A graduate assistant is assigned to the station in an advisory capacity only. WMSU-FM is headed by Dave Waite, assistant professor of communication. The staff and personnel are selected from among the best of the broadcast majors. Both stations have full-time news staffs, sportscasters, public affairs directors, and disc jockeys. And both stations have fun while going about the business of teaching students the fundamentals of radio broadcasting today.

Business Student Advisory Council

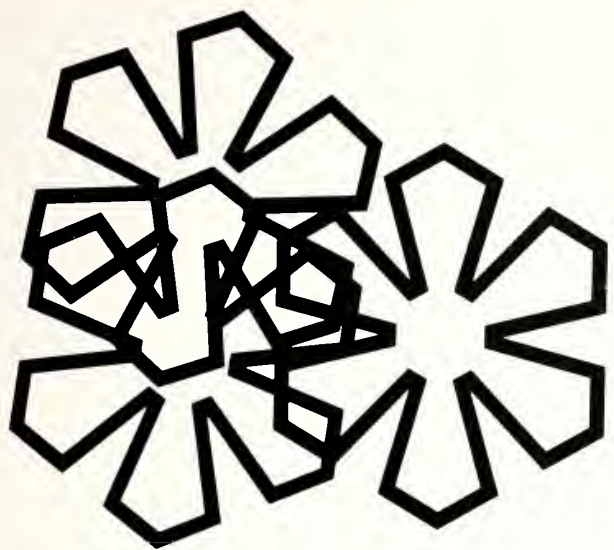

The Business Student Advisory Council functions as an effective organization to advise the Dean of the School of Business Administration and to coordinate the activities of the various business fraternities and the business students in general. It publishes annually the Student's Guide to the Business Fraternities to promote interest in one or more of the fraternities. It also assists the School of Business Administration by sponsoring the Honors Day Banquet each spring.

The Council is an organization for business students, appointed by the faculty of each department in the School and composed of the President of each of the business fraternities, to serve as student representatives in all matters of concern to the student and the business fraternities in the School of Business Administration.

The Newman Federation

The Newman Federation is an organization of Catholic students on secular campuses throughout the nation. Its goal is to promote a sense of community programs such as retreats, discussion, socials, and civic activities. Daily Mass is offered at Danforth Chapel with Sunday Mass at the St. Thomas Aquinas Newman Center on West Fourth Street. The Newman Center is open daily to students with a stereo, color television, kitchen facilities, and a study room available for relaxation.

The Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation offers opportunities for recreation, study, and service. Under capable leadership and the sponsorship of the Methodist Church, Wesley is representative of the Methodist Student Movement. Each Sunday interdenominational services are held in the Wesley Building.

MISCELLANEOUS

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The University of Southern Mississippi Home Economics Club is affiliated with both the Mississippi Home Economics Association and the American Home Economics Association. Club membership is available to all home economics majors or to those interested in home economics.

The Club was organized at the University of Southern Mississippi in 1926. The purpose of the organization is to help develop leadership ability, to promote professional attitudes and interests, to share with others the value of home economics as a profession, and to encourage fellowship among faculty and students.

Annual activities of the Club include: a get-acquainted picnic, attendance at the Mississippi Home Economics Association meeting, Thanksgiving boxes for needy families, a Christmas party for underprivileged children, and, to climax the Club's activities, a spring banquet.

The University Activities Council is the programming arm of the student body. It is a part of the educational and social program of the University and operates under the direction of the Student Activities Office located in the R.C. Cook Union. The Council plans concerts, movies, lectures, and other activities, varied in content, essaying to reach all factions of the student body.

This year has seen such UAC productions as: Richie Havens Concert, Pool and Ping-Pong Tournaments, movies, Mother's Finest, Theatrical Productions, Halloween Carnival, Birnam Wood, Mardi Gras Ball, Edgar Winter Group, Tranquility, Seals and Crofts, Stampedeers, Lawrence and Roselle, and the Spring Fever Week.

The UAC came under heavy attack winter quarter, with many students complaining that the Council did not fulfill their obligations to the students. However, the general consensus was that the activities Spring Quarter more than compensated. Hopefully, the UAC is headed in the proper direction and with the help of the student body will provide unlimited activities in the future.

ROBERT PHILLIPS and VAUGHN WILSON are responsible for all other pictures in the yearbook.

The '73 SOUTHERNER is a basic yearbook type yearbook, the only difference is that it has been presented in a different way than before. We attempted to show USM 1972-73 in respect to the influences and events that shaped the year. It was not our purpose to bore you with meaningless copy and captions. We tried to capture in pictures the diversity of USM and we hope that we have pleased you, the students.
